

Son Tay Raid Photographs

Army raiders had three designated photographers who recorded activity during training, deployment and raid execution. Initially they were all classified but some became available after the post raid debriefing. Almost all photographs of the raid were assembled in the third volume of the Commander JCS Joint Contingency Task Group, Report on the Son Tay Prisoner of War Rescue Operation Raid, Part III. This volume consisted of numerous planning and in flight maps and logs, supporting documents, photographs, radio tape recordings, debriefing tapes and transcripts as well as assorted small items from the entire operation. The footlocker was stored at SACSA headquarters and was lost after this organization dissolved after the war.

Air Force raiders did not have an assigned photographer and its crews were forbidden to take photographs during training and operation. There was only one photo op on which chase aircraft photographed daytime formation inside of the Eglin AFB restricted area.

Day and night fun in this fabulous city.

Great visit to a superb war museum.

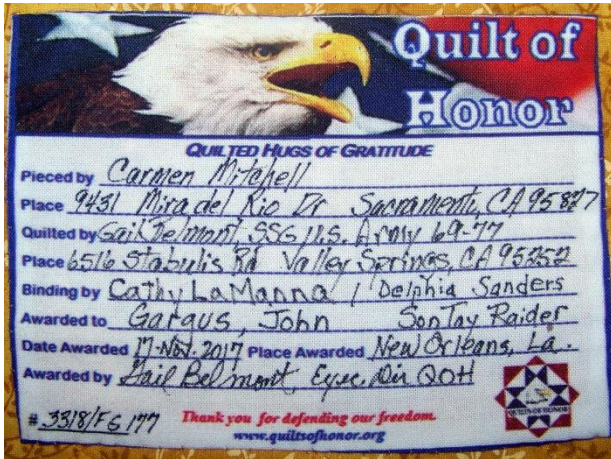

Great surprise awaited all attendees. “Quilt of Honor” ladies from California presented a specially made quilt to each POW and Son Tay raider. Precious quilts are professional quilting works of art that are numbered and registered specifically to each recipient. We cannot thank the ladies enough. Their names also appear on the sewn in certificate.
